1956 HEART FUND DOES WELL IN WILMINGTON

Wilmington raised $1,675.83 for the 1956 Heart Fund, Howard Johnson, State Chairman, announced today.

The statewide total for the February-long campaign sponsored by the Massachusetts Heart Association was $875,000 - an all-time record, he said.

Both of these totals will be increased somewhat by the end of the fiscal year.

Johnson expressed his "deepest gratitude to all good people who gave so unselfishly of their time, talent and plain hard work to strike the biggest blow in our local history against heart disease."

Johnson declared that Alan Altman, local Heart Fund chairman, and the area and neighborhood workers - "and finally, the many who went out rang doorbells to help battle heart disease," made this community's record in the Heart Fund an impressive one.

"This," he said, "was truly a community-wide effort. Behind the men and women who solicited the funds there was an effective organization made up of hard-working volunteers at the counting stations and in the headquarters, the police who gave protection to these stations on Heart Sunday, and many, many others. The people of Massachusetts may well be proud of their record."

Heart Fund will go to finance the research, education and community services with which the Massachusetts and American Heart Association battle the nation's Number One Health problem.

BOY SCOUTS HOLD EXPOSITION TOMMY McANDREW BECOMES EAGLE SCOUT

At the scout exposition held in Lowell on Saturday, April 14 awards were made to four boys from greater Lowell who on that day became Eagle Scouts. Among these honored four was a boy from our town and we can be justly proud of this for the boy, Thomas McAndrew, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McAndrew of Williams Ave., is the first Eagle Scout Wilmington has had in nearly five years. The last boy to attain this honor was Tommy Coombs. There is a good deal of hard work involved with this distinction, before becoming an Eagle Scout a boy must earn twenty-one merit badges, each one representing completion of a course in a trade or vocation. Tommy's award was a medal, a silver eagle on a ribbon which he will wear over his left pocket. Continuing in his work he will receive bronze, silver and gold merit badges which will be attached to his silver eagle. We have been told that Tommy completed his work on the twenty-one badges in a comparatively short time, just three and one half years, usually it takes a boy over four years.

Wilmington was very well represented on Saturday with a total of five booths including four troops 56, 57, 58 and 60. Troop 58 from Silver Lake displayed a most interesting assortment of radios and demonstrated their construction; the same troop put up a model campsite which attracted a lot of attention from visitors. Troop 60 from Hathaway Acres demonstrated printing in their booth. Troop 57 from West Wilmington put up a booth just full of fascinating knots and demonstrated rope making. Another booth manned by Wilmington boys was dedicated to safety, troop 58. Many useful circulars were distributed from this booth on safe driving, proper speeds and many other phases of the driving code. Troop 56 sponsored by the Wilmington Congregational Church was also well represented.

We spent a most enjoyable evening among these boys and really learned a great deal about what scouting means, besides having a good time, these boys do a lot of hard work and learn many fine crafts which most of them will find useful in later years. Above all these boys are learning to work together and to be good citizens.

EXCHANGE STUDENT VISITS WILMINGTON

During the morning assembly on Saturday, April 14 (student council day at the high school) a very distinguished guest spoke to the students and we neglected to mention it in our report, so we will try to make amends by doing so now: One of the speakers at the morning assembly was Miss Ganul Sipahi, a foreign exchange student (American Field Service) from Istanbul, Turkey. She is now a senior at Arlington High. Miss Sipahi told the group how happy she was to have had the opportunity to live in America and attend American schools. She spoke of how much greater her understanding of our ways is now.

Miss Claire Meo, the other exchange student from Arlington High will go to Turkey this summer.

This plan provides for each student to live with an American family (or a foreign family) for one year, aiming to promote international understanding.

PATRICIA WELLING CAPPED

On Sunday afternoon, April 15, at 4:00 o'clock, Miss Patricia Wellings was capped at a very impressive ceremony conducted at St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill. The presentation of caps as made by Miss Rita P. Kelleher, R. N., Dean of the Boston College School of Nursing.

Rev. Edward J. Gorman, S.J., spiritual advisor of the group, announced the candidates in order of presentation, and Patricia had the honor of being the first member of the class of '58 to receive her nurse's cap.

As each student became the recipient of her cap, the traditional Florence Nightingale Lamp was lighted by a member of the Junior Class, or the "Big Sisters" to the group.

Rev. Michael P. Walsh, S.J., Associate Professor of Biology at Boston College, delivered the main address to the class and the ceremony concluded with solemn Benediction.

Patricia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wellings of Fay Street, and graduated with the class of '54 from Wilmington High School. She is at present a Sophomore at B. C. S. N. and is now in training at Boston City Hospital.

WHITEFIELD MOTHERS CLUB NEWS

The Whitefield Mothers Club recently presented the school with a projector, screen and film strips.

A novelty party was held on April 10, with Mrs. Dorothy Siteman in charge. A beautifully decorated cake, made by Mrs. Jo Long, was won by Mrs. Riley.

The drilling rig, often as high as a 15-story building, is so skillfully engineered that it can lift and lower equipment weighing as much as five locomotives.

LET'S TURN THE TABLES

Our earliest memories of George Spanos go back to grade school days (we won't disclose just how many years ago, but its nearing twenty) when he had his establishment on Middlesex Ave., just across from the corner of School St. How many happy hours we spent in that store both at lunch time and while waiting for the bus to transport us home. To our knowledge no student ever stood in the rain or cold to await transportation while George was there. Even then George was catering to others, if you had a message to leave, a gym suit someone wanted to borrow or a book to be passed on, you could always leave it with George and he would see that it got passed into the correct channels.

In more recent years since he has been in the center only George himself really knows just how much good he has done and we will wager he probably would not want to make it public. The many souvenirs adorning the walls of the restaurant tell their own story of the good done by George for the service men of our town. How many times during some emergency has George kept his doors open all night for the convenience of workers and wanderers who may have been stranded?

No matter what it is you're in need of you can probably find it at George's, a child wants a pair of skates, George will make an appeal. And he is still passing on messages and all sorts of information simply for the asking. If all you are looking for is a little lively chatter over an excellent cup of coffee, you can find it at George's. How distinctly we remember years ago when we were out of work and very weary with "job hunting". We came out of Boston and dropped into George's for a cup of coffee before going our discouraged way. When we were asked to tell our troubles, George smiled, threw up his hands and exclaimed, "your looking for a job, that's wonderful!" he was then taken away by other customers so we lingered a bit to find out what George thought was so wonderful about our having to look for work. When he finished with his work and returned to us, we asked the question he smiled again and repeated "what's wonderful about your looking for work?" "why your able to, did you ever think of that?" Well, we had not thought of that. We entered George's that day in complete despair and emerged feeling like the possessor of many great abilities, we could walk, talk and see. As George had pointed out, many people cannot.

Now after many years of helping those who were up against it, George has his own back to the wall and may be in need of a helping hand. If you are asked to contribute, time, effort or money do it willingly so that we can bring George back to Wilmington and make the town the same again, we can't picture Wilmington without him and we don't want to do we?

For a little while now, let's try to help this man who has for so long helped others, yes let's turn the tables on George.

VFW DUGOUT DOINGS

Last Thursday night our meeting was interrupted by an emergency call to take George Spanos to the Lowell General Hospital to undergo an operation. His cheerful conversation enroute belied the pain he was in even to the extent of remarking on the prettiness of the nurses on arrival.

Friday night two men went to see him and although he felt rough, he still was able to converse in his usual crusty manner.

While he was still under the knife, the telephones were ringing all over town, letters, telegrams, cards and phone calls have been the order of the day since. The "grapevine" has been working overtime and plans are being formulated to DO for a man who has always DONE and God willing, will continue to do.

So everyone, old and young, if you are called upon to do something for George—do it big! Let's all get together speedy recovery! God Bless Him.

In the other (no names please) paper last week, an article stated that even though the selectmen approved of our bonfire site, they were unhappy. We wonder why?

William (Bill) Berry is really up to his neck in affairs. He has been appointed adjutant of the post and we are sure he will carry the position well. Already he's got your's truly working overtime!

Our monthly social is on Saturday, April 21. As usual, fine foods will prevail. Little money—lots of fun. If the weather continues dry, boots can be discarded and women can kick off their shoes and dance.

Is there no one who can play Bridge? Poor Phil Leduc keep trying to get a four-some, how's for helping him out?

Installation of new officers of the post and auxiliary will be held at Wildwood School Sunday, April 29 at 2:00 p.m. Irving Stackpole, prominent lawyer of Somerville will be installing officer. The public is cordially invited, all members are expected to attend. Refreshments will be served at the Dugout following the ceremonies. Our new post chair officers are as follows:

Harry T. Filippone, Commander; Alan E. Fenton, Senior Vice Commander; Angelo Ingahara, Junior Vice Commander; Frederick Kleyen, Quartermaster; John Madigan, Jr., Chaplain and John Vadaikes, C.O.D.

Emphasis will be stressed on membership these next few months. "Ten for Tim" will be the password. All you members having eligible friends or relatives, would make an extra effort to enlist them. Our plans are big, we need more men to help.

Our new building fund is growing. Let's get over the top and provide ourselves with a decent post headquarters. Our squeegees are wearing out!

As of this writing, Higgle's chances of getting her table back look pretty good. Don't give up Higgle.

How come we seldom see Angie Polino, Al Ouellette, Roy MacDonald and Charlie? Drop in boys—we're open every Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights.

"BEHIND THE SCENES" IN AMERICAN BUSINESS

By Reynolds Knight
New York, April 2—As March ended, the observers whose business it is to look at what's going on saw consumers' prices standing still, while those who look up the track to see what's coming glimpsed an approaching rise.

The standstill in consumers' prices, which have held within a range of one percentage point in the last two years, has come about thru the fact that a fairly steady fall in farm prices has been counteracted by an equal rise in industrial prices.

The look-ahead situation seems to be that the farm price drop will halt for several months to come, and that industrial prices will keep going up. This will send the index higher, although not fast enough, government seers believe, to cut down the advantage wage-earners have built up in the two years of stability.

Despite the wild outcries from supported crops growers, the bulk of the decline in farm prices in the last year hasn't been in that field, but in meats and related livestock products. Now the Bureau of Agricultural Economics thinks herds are in shape for the spring and early summer, and the livestock flood at markets will slacken.

As for industrial prices, the National Association of Purchasing Agents reported 68 per cent of its members paying more for the raw materials they bought for second-quarter fabrication—and in these booming times the manufacturer doesn't absorb such costs.

Computers Grow Up

Ever since World War II, when the digital computers commonly called "giant brains" got their start in life, business has been trying to adapt these unbelievably swift-figuring devices to its own needs.

A scientific problem can often be expressed in a few lines, or even a few symbols. After a great amount of computation, the answer comes out in a similarly brief expression.

The need to adapt rises from the fact that business amasses millions of bits of data, and generally seeks a little computation, or a series of simple computations, and a multitude of answers.

Datamatic Corp. of Newton Highlands, Mass., which jointly owned by Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. and Raytheon, Inc., has come up with the answer. Its Datamatic 1000 is a linked system of business machines, which has built up intake and output speed and storage capacity until the rest of the equipment matches the lightning computing speed.

Things to come
You can get a new nameplate and hardwood stand for your desk for $2.95. (The boss can get a new nameplate for your successor for $1.95; you can't win.) Do-it-yourself plywood patterns come surfaced in the illusion of cubes, or in weave effects. Geiger counters that shout when they find exciting amounts of uranium are available. Weary of turning the barbecue spit? Two flashlight batteries power a motor to do it for you.

Touch-Up Time
Spring is bustin' out all over—depending somewhat, of course, on where you live—and its arrival is the sign for an army of painters, amateur and professional to go to work.

By May the painting season reaches its peak. This year's brush and roller wielders are expected to apply paint in record volume, the Collapsible Tube Manufacturers Council reports. Paint sales in 1955 hit an all-time high of more than $1.5 billion.

One big reason for the boom in paint sales is the wide choice of colors, ranging from pastels and intermediates to deeper shades, that have been made available by the simple process of adding colorants packaged in collapsible metal tubes to white or neutral paints. Virtually all the major paint manufacturers now have paint-plus-tube color systems. The choices of hues and tints range as high as

Sawmills Jolted

All during the price rise of two-by-fours, the common denominator of home and light commercial building, from $20 a thousand feet prewar to the present $80 or $85, the lumberyard operator has been using cars in transit from the mill as a kind of warehouse.

The car of lumber starts from the West Coast, with the railroad tipped off that there's no hurry in getting it to the Eastern Seaboard. Then some mill agent gets busy trying to sell the carload before it reaches its destination. (When he can't, the words "distress transit" are whispered around, and someone gets a bargain.)

Now the ICC has stepped in to say that this practice, however it helps the mills and the lumberyard operator, is adding to a boxcar shortage. So the 24's must hurry across the continent from now on.

Bits O' Business

Electric output for the week ended March 17 was 11,202 million kwh. Electric generation is running some 14 per cent above 1955's. Paper and paperboard production, which set a record with output of 29.2 million tons in 1955, is running 5 per cent above last year's level so far in 1956. The Bank of Montreal estimates Canadian spending for plant and equipment this year at $7.5 billion.

B & M PAYS $127 FOR IDEA

Nelson F. Dupuis of Lowell an employee at the reclamation plant of the Boston and Maine Railroad in Billerica, has just been presented a check for $127, by Patrick B. McGinnis, president of the road, for a winning suggestion idea he submitted from the reclamation plant.

The employees suggestion system which has been reactivated under the administration of President McGinnis has produced some valuable suggestions since its reopening.

Dupuis suggested a method of reclaiming journal box wedges which are a part of freight car wheel bearings. The suggestion was adopted and a sufficient saving was made to warrant the amount he received.

The newly opened suggestion system is managed by Edward F. Sinclair of Melrose, manager of co-operative activities of the railroad.

Largely through the use of oil-powered machinery, food production per hour of farm labor has more than doubled in the past thirty years.

REMEMBER THE DATE: APRIL 24!

That's next Tuesday, Cancer Crusade night throughout Massachusetts. On that night, a vast army of Cancer Crusaders, almost 100,000 strong, will call on every home in Massachusetts asking for help in the fight against man's cruellest enemy, cancer.

Unless a cure for this disease is found, medical experts estimate that 40,000,000 Americans now living will be victims of cancer. But continued cancer research and education may save the one American in four whom cancer now threatens.

"Only through intensified support by the public will the battle against cancer be won," said Cameron S. Thompson, state campaign chairman. "And the decisive point in that battle will be reached next Tuesday night when for two hours in the evening all Massachusetts residents will be given an opportunity to do their part to strike back against cancer."

The purpose of the American Cancer Society's annual campaign is two-fold: first, to reach, during the month of April, as many millions of people as possible with life-saving facts about cancer; and, second, to continue and expand the multi-million dollar organized scientific research for new means of curing or preventing cancer.

In the eleven years since the war the American Cancer Society has spent more than $41 million on research, a large amount of money, but small compared with the expenditures made by the American public on other items.
For example, during that time American's spent 231 times as much on tobacco products alone, and almost twice as much on playing cards.

"This year may well be a banner year in the fight against cancer," said Thompson. "I know every resident of the Commonwealth will gladly do his part by fighting cancer with a checkup and a check."

MASSACHUSETTS A MODEL STATE

Attorney General George Fingold is shown above with James H. Bobo, of Tennessee, Counsel for the U.S. Senate Sub-committee on Juvenile Delinquency as the two went over final plans for Fingold's second annual Youth Conference which will be held in Springfield on Thursday, April 26th. Several hundred Massachusetts youth authorities will be in attendance.

Mr. Bobo said that Massachusetts is rapidly becoming a model state insofar as its approach to the problem of juvenile delinquency is concerned. He said that other States would do well to "get on the Massachusetts beam" in the matter of a well-coordinated, farsighted program for the reduction and prevention of juvenile delinquency.

MONEL GASOLINE TANKS

Light gauge Monel sheet is being increasingly employed for the gasoline tanks of many new motorboats because it resists corrosion and inhibits the formation of fuel gums that can clog gas lines and strainers. Its strength also provides a value safety factor. Another advantage of Monel for this use lies in the fact that it can be easily formed and welded and thus can be made into any approved type of motorboat gasoline tank.

OUTPUT OF CUPRO- NICKEL ALLOYS INCREASES

Production of cupro-nickel alloys, containing 10 to 30 per cent nickel, showed an increase during 1954. These alloys continued to play an important part in the marine, power and petroleum industries where they are employed in the form of tubing and tube sheets for heat exchangers which operate under severe conditions of temperatures and pressures.

15TH SABBATH OFFERING

A grizzled, orange-painted paramount chief in New Guinea's highlands may get his wish as a result of a special offering to be taken at the Seventh-day Adventist Sabbath school Saturday.

Chief Wizol, from the Mt. Hagen region of New Guinea, walked two days' journey through the wild terrain with his co-chiefs to ask the Adventist Mission to establish a school among his people.

Norman Round, Sabbath's school superintendent here, in announcing the offering to be taken, told of the start being made in educating the natives of this Pacific Island. Already more than 140 students are enrolled in the Coral Sea Training School operated by the church there, he said. But the school's facilities are crowded to capacity. Calls like Chief Wizol's mean the need for branch schools and medical facilities as well.

Part of the offering being received in all Seventh-day Adventist Sabbath schools Saturday, will also go to establish a medical unit at Aore in the New Hebrides, the superintendent stated. Tuberculosis, leprosy and other diseases are rampant in this area, he emphasized. Plans for two small dispensary units are already under way, but more adequate medical facilities and personnel are needed.

To bring close home the needs of the South Pacific islands a short program of recitations and dialogue will be given by the children of the Primary and Kindergarten classes.

Since the commercial debut of liquefied petroleum gas 32 years ago, its use has increased nearly 25,000 times.

SAFETY TIP: Driving at night? Your safety zone extends only as far as your headlight beam, the AAA reports. Reduce your speed so as to keep your STOPPING DISTANCE within that zone. For most cars 45 miles an hour is the maximum safe speed at night.

TRAFFIC TIP: Some traffic laws are made by man; others are created by nature according to the Triple A. For instance, the centrifugal force that pulls your car to the curve is a law that can't be repealed. Take it easy when you see a curve coming.

I pray that the town of Wilmington grows with a big future just like mine is growing now.

I do thank you the Crusader for sending me a paper. I appreciate it very much.

For the benefit of my relatives and friends, I am going under nine weeks recruit training at Bainbridge, Maryland at the above address.

MAURICE LeBLANC IN GERMANY

Frankfurt, Germany—Specialist Third Class Maurice LeBlanc, 19, whose wife, Nancy, lives at 15 Fletcher Rd., Woburn, recently took part in a field training exercise held by the 4th Infantry Division in Germany.

Training received by the "Tvy" division, part of the U.S. Seventh Army, includes intensive maneuvers and realistic field problems.

Specialist LeBlanc, a driver in Service Battery of the division's 20th Field Artillery Battalion, entered the Army in August 1954 and completed basic training at Fort Dix, N. J.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo LeBlanc, 36 Lowell St., Wilmington, he attended Wilmington High School.

ARMY RECRUITING INSTITUTES "BUDDY ASSIGNMENT" PROGRAM

It is now possible for groups of young men to enlist in the U. S. Army and remain together at least through the first 8 weeks of training, according to a directive just received by Master Sergeant James Everett, local Army Recruiter.

The new directive states that up to five men may be enlisted under a new "Buddy Assignment" program, which will keep the men together at least through basic training.

If more than five men are involved, the larger group may be broken down into two or more groups of not more than five men. Members of each small group will be kept together, but no assurance can be given that the large group can remain intact even for basic training.

Full information on the "Buddy Assignment" system may be obtained by contacting the Lowell Army Recruiting Station at VA Building, 89 Appleton St., or by calling GL 9-9300.

MAKING UP THE DIFFERENCE

Per capita consumption of meat is at an all-time record. On the basis of recently revised figures, it has been running at the rate of some 172 pounds a year. That was the rate in the last quarter of 1955, and apparently it has continued. The previous high was touched almost half a century ago—163.3 pounds, in 1908.

This certainly proves that American desire for meat is all but insatiable. And the consumer is getting excellent meat buys—as home facts made public by the American Meat Institute show.

During a late week, 1,000 pound steers were selling in the great Chicago market at an average of 20.38 cents a pound, or $203.80 per animal. With choice steers providing beef at approximately 58 per cent of live weight, a 1,000 pound steer produced 580 pounds of meat. This was worth 32.90 cents a pound, for a total of $190.80. In a choice steer wholesaled at other words, the beef from 12.98 less than was paid for the animal on the hoof.

How was that possible? The answer is found in by-products, which go into paint, fertilizer, medicines and many other commodities. The revenue from their sale made up the difference. As the Institute states, "Had it not been for the industry's ability to realize sale from by-products the story would have been less favorable for all concerned."

WHAT THE SOCIALISTS WANT

The debate over public-vs-private electric power development is often fogged by statistical arguments and other considerations which obscure the main point.

That point is basically as simple as two-and-two. Secretary of Commerce Weeks covered it with admirable brevity when he said: "The socialists want a federal power monopoly. The thought of private capital venturing into this field is anathema to them. That's what is back of the Dixon-Yates power controversy that's all there is to the struggle for Federal development on the Snake River where private capital after authorization by this Administration has moved in to do the job."

For those of us who aren't socialists, and don't follow this phase of the socialist line, private power development is as logical and desirable as private farming, private retail stores, private enterprise in all the thousands-and-one fields. Private power pays taxes, big ones—about 23 per cent of all its revenues. The socialized systems either pay no taxes at all, or small sums in lieu of local taxes. Private power development is financed by the assets and savings of individuals and institutions, provided voluntarily. Public power is subsidized—involuntarily—by all the taxpayers. Private power rates are governed and established by public service commissions, and usually allow a return of about six per cent on the investment. Public power rates more often than not, are affected by political influences—which means that more taxpayer subsidies are needed to keep the government in business in competition with its own citizens.

Can private power swing the biggest jobs? Well, a group of private power companies is now completing a $400,000,000 project in Ohio to service an Atomic Energy Commission plant. Another group has been trying for years to get the go-ahead on a $400,000,000 development on the Niagara in New York. The Snake River project is in the $200,000,000 bracket.

As Secretary Weeks said, "The socialists want a federal power monopoly." No one else does.

SAFETY TIP: On the open road, you may think you have things all to yourself, but watch those SIDE ROADS, warns the AAA. A slow-moving vehicle may enter suddenly. Be alert for anything that MIGHT happen; it's good driving.

JUNCO

With the possible exception of the Chickadees and Tree Sparrows probably few birds have put more grins on the faces of those who must stay indoors in winter than have the Juncos. Even husky hikers enjoy the birds as they come into a wind and snow-swept clearing and see the birds gaily gathering a breakfast of weed seeds when all other animals seem to be elsewhere.

During the spring and fall migrations north and south, the birds seem to be most abundant. Then their flocks are easily identified not only by their slaty color but by the flashing, white outer-tail feathers. The combination of grayness and white outer-tail feathers is completed by a light-colored bill that contrasts with the darkness of the head. In the male the head is more conspicuously dark than in the female.

Juncos measure about 6-1/2 inches and have a wingspread of to 10 inches. They weigh about 7/10 of an ounce, may fly as fast as 17 miles an hour and have a body temperature of over 108 degrees F. Their light weight permits them to land on fluffy snow without sinking in as would larger birds like pheasants and cranes. As a result, when deep snows come the Juncos continue their merry existence while the larger birds get means little to a bird become bogged down. Hum that can get a shower of breakfast food by merely pecking almost any dead weed-top that trusts its head above the snow.

There are eight species of Juncos to be found in North America with the total rising to twice that number if we recognize both species and subspecies. Collectively they practically cover the continent except for the extreme northern barrens and the lowlands of Mexico. They are also to be found in Siberia.

The common Slate-colored Junco nests in the northern part of the United States and into Canada. The nest is usually on the ground under some sort of cover and is made of grass with a finer lining. The 4 to 6 eggs are bluish, greenish or grayish, thickly spotted with fine purple, brown or lilac marks. The eggs are about 4/5 of an inch long and are incubated for 11 or 12 days. There may be one or two broods a year.

A third of the winter food is probably the seeds and fruits of such noxious weeds as ragweed and smartweed. The remainder is probably the fruits and seeds of such other common weeds as amaranth, lamb's quarters, Russian thistle and sunflower. While it might seem that the great flocks of Juncos feeding on enormous quantities of the fruits and seeds of these noxious plants might be helping in weed control it is doubtful if this service is appreciable. As in many other kinds of wildlife, whether plants or animals, there is usually a harvestable surplus of weed seeds. It might be better to recognize that the weeds that feed these birds render us a service since without them the snowy season might be bleak indeed whether we go outdoors or remain within, seeking our nature experiences from the window-feeding station.

The National Wildlife Federation through distribution of its stamps is encouraging an understanding of all matters of nature, including the plight of Juncos and of weeds.

CHAIRMAN DR. S. G. HAJJAR OF JESUIT SHADOWBROOK FUND APPEALS TO TOWN

Stresses Importance of Giving Now To Help Offset Terrific Loss Due To Huge Fire

Dr. S. G. Hajjar, Merrimack Valley chairman of the Jesuit Shadowbrook Fund, has appealed this week to the people of the town to step forward and help rebuild Shadowbrook, where young men enter their first step toward 15 years of spiritual and intellectual training for the Jesuit priesthood. The teachers and pastors, the missionaries and chaplains, the scientists and craftsmen—all, wherever they may be stationed, begin their lives as Jesuits in a Novitiate. On the Novitiate depends everything that the Jesuit becomes and achieves for the service of God and his fellow-man.

One of the main reasons why the fund drive was inaugurated was because the Provincial, Rev. William E. Fitzgerald, S.J., and other Jesuit priests knew that the present Novitiate in Lenox was dangerous and, sad but true, last Saturday their point was proven when Shadowbrook was burned to the ground with a loss of four lives and injury to others as well as loss to the structure and furnishings.

Dr. Hajjar believes that most people will want to help. They can do the campaign the most good by making thoughtful gifts. Only through thoughtful gifts can we make possible the huge sum urgently needed to build a new Shadowbrook. Dr. Hajjar's appeal cannot go unanswered as the need for funds is greater than ever now. The young men do not have a home now and their training for God and men has been slowed down. With the world in its present condition more men of God are needed.

Dr. Hajjar wishes to inform everyone that pledges for as long as five years may be made now. Many have pledged $30 per year for five years, a little more than 50 cents a week.

The following telegram was received by Dr. Hajjar and Stanley J. Bocko, editor and publisher of The Billerica News, from the Provincial of the Jesuits, Rev. William E. Fitzgerald, S.J.: "Tragic fire reduced Shadowbrook to ashes. Jesuits temporarily dispersed to New York and Maryland. Must move quickly to build novitiate. Grateful if you can obtain all gifts or pledges in ten days. Your prayers and help requested." This pleading message was sent by a sorrowful provincial who recognizes the need for his novices who are scattered all over. He wants them under his protecting wing again and asks us all to help.

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing has promised help but the fund drive cannot be a success without the help of everyone.

Pledges will be accepted daily at the office of Dr. Hajjar on Talbot Ave., No. Billerica, and at the office of The Billerica News, High St., No. Billerica and at 95 Bridge St., Lowell, or they will be picked up by calling MO 3-3970, MO 3-8221 and GL 8-8812. Just call any of these numbers and someone will drop up with a pledge card.

At the joint Holy Name Communion breakfast Sunday, Dr. Hajjar was toastmaster and he spoke on the need for funds for Shadowbrook and the men there responded marvelously by promising to do all they could to raise funds for the drive by giving personal pledges. Rev. Harold Wren, pastor of St. Mary's Pinehurst, also gave an inspiring talk on the need for a novitiate for the Jesuits and urged all the men to pledge to the fund.

In the near future organizational plans will be announced so that men can make a canvas for substantial donations among the men and women of Billerica.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Santa Rosa, N.M., News: "Aesop pointed the moral: 'Beware lest you lose the substance by grasping at the shadow.' Do we sometimes give away the good things we have for grandiose plans that are nothing more than shadows?"

"PRESERVE COMPETITION—NOT COMPETITORS"

The Sherman Antitrust Act was passed in 1890. The Clayton Act, which supplemented it, came into being in 1914.

"Since 1890," as Nation's Business points out editorially, "the surety with the fringe on top has become the four-door hardtop." In other words, times have changed to an almost unbelievable extent. Yet these old laws remain on the books—to the confusion both of those who must operate under them. The magazine urges a new law, which will recognize present-day business realities. And in framing this law, it adds, one objective should be kept firmly in mind: "We are trying to preserve competition—not competitors."

That is a vital objective indeed. There are vast dangers in the idea that bigness in itself is bad and monopolistic—and that all kinds of protections must be devised in law to keep the small in business. One example of this attitude was found in the campaign of twenty years ago to penalize the chain retailing systems with punitive class taxes and other restrictions aimed purely at growth and size. Had that campaign succeeded, producers would have been deprived of markets and consumers would have been deprived of the economies mass-distribution makes possible. We would have turned the clock back, at an almost unimaginable cost to the nation.

Bigness is not good in it-

NEIGHBORS

By Paul D. Emmons

(Continued from Last Week) Although Barnsdale lay only twenty miles west of Boston it had rural free delivery, did not have a town water supply, and its house-holders measured their holdings by acres and not in square feet. It was essentially a rural community, little touched by the hand of progress, and still numbered among its inhabitants characters who were refreshingly bucolic. The Wentworths had originally gone there as summer boarders. Captivated by the charm of the place, they had bought the grove and built the cottage, purely as a summer camp, for they lived in Boston in the winter. All this was several years ago when Uncle Rip was a young man. But the cottage had come a little too late to save him. Never very strong, he had contracted an unsuspected case of tuberculosis, and was invalided to Colorado. Convalescence was slow, and at the end of a year and a half, when the disease was definitely arrested, his father had died.

Uncle Rip came back to Boston to look after the family interests, which were bound up in a prosperous real estate business. For sometime he carried it on successfully, then was seized with a recurrence of the old trouble. This time it nearly proved fatal. Colorado claimed him again for three years and when, once more discharged by his doctors, he had insisted on returning to New England, it was under an ironclad mandate. No office work and an outdoor life.

A drastic re-alignment became necessary. The Boston house and what was left of the business was sold, the cottage converted into an all the year residence. Here he had lived, beneficially, with his two sisters until Perry's marriage made it possible to reorganize the family menage. Uncle Rip's sisters were tired of living in the country, and especially tired of Barnsdale. It was an unprogressive town and they knew every stick and stone in the roads. They yearned for Boston, and with a dry smile which did not cover any very shrewd regrets Uncle Rip rented an apartment for them in Brookline and took Perry and his young wife into the cottage to keep house for him.

It was a highly satisfactory arrangement, made increasingly so by the advent of Sonny. A gentleman farmer when he felt like it, and a shrewd investor at all times, Uncle Rip had added to his health and his finances until now he was comfortably situated as to both so long as he kept within reasonable limits. He had grown to love the life he led and the town he lived in. Its unusual characters and varied opportunities for outdoor sports furnished him ample entertainment, and he was on the whole pretty well liked, although his wagging humor had earned him some enemies who rated him bitterly behind his back, for 'Rip' Wentworth was never known to come off second best in an argument.

NICKEL PRODUCTION AT NEW HIGH

Production of nickel by the free world in 1954 reached an all-time high estimated at 390,000,000 pounds—about 50,000,000 pounds greater than the 1953 total, and about 50 per cent above the pre-Korean 1949 output. Over-all production by Canadian producers of about 320,000,000 pounds last year also surpassed any previous year and accounted for over 80 percent of the free world's output.

WELCOME WAGON NEWS

Announcement has been made by Thomas W. Briggs, President of Welcome Wagon, Inc., New York and Memphis, Tennessee, that a Welcome Wagon Supervisor in the Greater Washington, D.C. area, Mrs. Ruth Cotting, has been named that city's 1956 Advertising Woman of the Year by the Women's Advertising Club of Washington.

Each year a woman is chosen by that club for her outstanding contributions in the field of advertising. This year's selection, announced by the club president, Elinor Lee, was made by a committee headed by Betty Darling Gwyer, the club's 1955 award recipient.

At a luncheon of the Women's Advertising Club on April 5th at the Washington Hotel in Washington, Mrs. Cotting formally received the award.

Luncheon speaker was Theodore Cott, Vice President of DuMont Broadcasting Company.

Mrs. Cotting, a resident of Falls Church, Virginia, is the wife of John L. Cotting, Agriculture Department aide. Mrs. Cotting supervises the activities of Welcome Wagon's Greater Washington area staff of 50 hostesses. Welcome Wagon, now in its 29th year, is a public and human relations service, with representation in every state of the Union, in every province of Canada, and in the Hawaiian Islands.

Among the distinguished persons called upon by Mrs. Cotting was Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Mrs. Cotting has been associated with Welcome Wagon for about 12 years. She was the first woman lecturer in salesmanship at Southern University, and is a member of the Board of Directors for the Woman's Committee of the National Symphony. Having won the District's 1956 award, Mrs. Cotting will compete with the winners from other major cities for the national award of the Council on Women's Advertising Clubs of the Advertising Federation of America.

ARMY ANNOUNCES
ENLISTMENT CHOICES
FOR MONTH OF APRIL

Special assignment choices for young men enlisting in the Army from the Eastern Massachusetts area during April have been received by Master Sergeant James G. Everett station commander of the Lowell Army Recruiting Station at VA Building, 89 Appleton St.

The list totals 85 openings available for arm and services choices. The Airborne offers the largest number of openings and will accept 23 men from this area during the month. The Signal Corps, one of the most technical of the services, will offer 17 young men the opportunity to join its ranks. The Corps of Military Police has 15 openings and the Ordnance and Medical Corps have 9 openings each. The Quartermaster Corps has six openings, the Transportation four vacancies, and two men may enlist for duty with the Corps of Engineers.

Enlistments in Infantry, Artillery, and Armor may be accomplished in any number, as can be enlistments under the Army's guaranteed school program. There are still a few openings left for the 8th Infantry Division will be accepted.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS
TAKING ADVANTAGE OF
ARMY OFFER

Many high school seniors are taking advantage of the Army's offer to permit them to be processed for enlistment under the Army Guaranteed School program during the Spring vacation, according to Master Sergeant James G. Everett, local Army Recruiter.

Under this plan, the high school senior selects his school from the list of over 150 courses offered for direct enlistment and takes his mental and physical examinations during the Spring vacation. Any application for the senior to attend the school of his choice is then forwarded to The Adjutant General in Washington, D.C.

If accepted, the applicant is notified by The Adjutant General, who sends the applicant a written guarantee that he will attend the school he selects and instructions as to when he should enlist. No high school senior will be required to enlist prior to graduation date.

The reason for processing so far ahead of the actual enlistment date is twofold. First, it takes considerable time to process a school application because it has to go to Washington. Secondly, it gives the senior a chance to make his plans ahead of time and determine that he will be accepted upon graduation.

Full information on this unusual offer may be obtained at the Lowell Army Recruiting Station at VA Building, 89 Appleton St., or by calling Master Sergeant Everett at GL 9-9300.

CONSERVATION,
GOOD TURN

Young America has an intelligent concern for forests and related resources — soil, water and wildlife.

We are proud of the young people of this community who are learning to appreciate the real meaning of conservation.

Real conservation permits forests to produce continuing crops of trees. This is tree farming.

WOOD — THE FIBER
OF AMERICA

Educating today's youth for tomorrow's opportunities is the most important job in America. An important part of this preparation is the development of an appreciation for and an understanding of the forest resources that helped build this nation.

Our forests, used wisely and protected from fire, will provide the wood we need for products essential to our comfort and security.

Quote:

It is the imaginable difficulties that cannot be overcome.

Friend of Many:

George Spanos, friend of the needy, benefactor, confessor and perhaps the best loved man in Wilmington is seriously ill. He is convalescing at the Lowell General Hospital after a particularly grueling operation performed last week. We know that George would welcome cards from the multitude of friends he has. So... Lets help him along the road to recovery, a road that he has made easy for so many.

Collector's Item:

Our great President, Franklin D. Roosevelt sat chatting with a friend one day when a huge pile of letters were brought in to be signed. Patiently F.D.R. affixed his signature to each sheet.

"Why do you bother signing all these letters yourself?" asked his visitor. "Most people who have that much mail to get out have secretaries copy their signatures."

"That may be true," replied the President, "but the people you speak of are obviously not autograph hunters."

Related Tribute:

Nancy Weinberg, 6 year old speedster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milke Weinberg has woman's speed skating cliques. Woman speed skating is not a recognized competitive sport by the Olympic tournament Committee, but we feel sure that if it were Nancy would be with the best. A week ago at the National Speed Skating Championship held at Flushing Meadows, N.Y. Nancy more than held her own, in fact... Nancy won 1st place in the 110 yard and 1st in the 220 yd. and came in second in the 330 yard dash. Oddly enough, the girl she finally beat in the last race had beaten Nancy once and in turn was beaten by Nancy. The 220 yd. was the payoff with Nancy emerging the victor and capturing the large gold trophy. She received a large gold medal for each first and a silver medal for her second place award. Her official title is Pee Wee Champion of the National Indoor Speed Skating Championship and will remain as such until next year when she will defend her title at the ripe old age of seven years.

Who's the Smart One?

A touring American go-getter noticed a lazy Indian Chief loitering at the door of his wigwam. "Chief," remonstrated the go-getter, "why don't you get a job in a factory?" "Why?" grunted the chief. "Well, money. Maybe thirty or forty dollars a week." "Why?" insisted the chief. "Oh, if you worked hard and saved your money, you'd soon have a bank account. 'Wouldn't you like that?'" "Why?" again asked the chief. "For Heaven's sake!" shouted the exasperated go-getter,

"with a big bank account you could retire, and then you wouldn't have to work any more."

"Not working now," pointed out the chief.

Warm Weather IS Coming:

With the coming of warm weather and the natural tendency to take the family out for a ride or a swim, it might be a good idea to read the following data issued by The Travelers Insurance Co. of Hartford, Conn.

In the record year of '55 there were 37,800 Deaths... 2300 more than 1954... 2,158,000 Injuries... 198,000 more than 1954... 715,200 Casualties from speeding... 230,400 Pedestrian Casualties... 4600 less than 1954, the only bright spot in the 1954 record... 15,730 deaths occurred on weekends... more than 41% of the total... 27% of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were under 25 years of age... 85% of the vehicles involved in accidents were passenger cars

22% of the deaths occurred on Saturday... 4 to 8 p.m. are the most dangerous hours of the day.
